Adenauer, Macmillan Meet

End Bickering, Theme Of London Conference

LONDON (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer arrived today for talks with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to dispense nagging misunderstandings between West Germany and Britain.

In three days of consultations Macmillan and Adenauer hope to coordinate foreign policies in anticipation of an East-West summit conference next spring or summer.

Two Agree, Report

Macmillan went from a Cabinet meeting to London's Victoria Station where he shook hands and chatted with the 83-year-old West German leader.

On the eve of Adenauer's departure for London the West German foreign ministry issued a statement saying that Bonn and London see eye-to-eye on basic principles.

Both leaders expressed confidence the meeting will lead to a new era of harmonious British-German relations.

"Germany is our joint partner and ally," Macmillan said Monday night at a London banquet. "Our aim is the widest and most fruitful association of European countries."

Summit, Trade Topics

Adenauer said last month he was optimistic that the talks would bring the two nations "into full unity and harmony."

Topics expected to dominate the conference—in addition to British-German relations—are the proposed summit meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and possible trade rivalry in Europe between the British-led group

Associate Heads Of Pageant Named

Ernest Rowe, president of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Guy Visk, executive director of the Miss New York State Pageant, jointly announced the appointments of associate directors for the 1960 state event.

Gene Addesso, of the IBM Corporation, will serve as associate director of public relations and staging; William Conway, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, in his role as associate director will be responsible for hotel arrangements, judging and awards; and Donald MacCollum, private investigator, will be the associate director in charge of the parade, transportation and the souvenir yearbook.

Each associate director will have committee chairmen in their various areas of responsibility. The Miss New York State Pageant franchise is held by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce and the committees will consist of Kingston Jaycee members.

In view of the increasing number of contestants the 1960 State Pageant will be extended one day. The dates for the statewide event, which drew national as well as statewide interest in 1959, will be announced shortly.

Approval Is Voted Today To Tie Banks

Consolidation of the State of New York National Bank at 301 Wall Street and the National Ulster County Bank of Kingston at 300 Wall Street was unanimously approved at stockholder's meetings at the banking houses at 11 o'clock this morning.

Effective Jan. 1

The consolidation will become effective on Jan. 1, 1960. Plans for the consolidation had been given full approval of the Banking Authorities and the only remaining detail was the stockholders' approval today.

When consolidation becomes effective the National Ulster County Bank of Kingston will become a branch of the State of New York National Bank and will be operated under the name of the National Ulster Bank.

To Change Name

In order to prevent confusion in the name the present Ulster Branch of the State of New York National Bank on Albany Avenue Extension will be changed to the Albany Avenue Branch.

John H. Saxe, president of the State of New York National Bank which has been in existence for over 100 years, said that under the consolidation plan the State of New York stock would be split, making the present $100 par stock a $10 par stock. The stock of the National Ulster County Bank of Kingston is presently a $10 par stock. Stockholders of the State of New York National Bank will receive 10 shares of new stock for each share of existing stock and the stockholders of the National Ulster County Bank of Kingston would be issued stock of the State of New York National Bank.

The two banks will continue to operate as individual identities until January 1, 1960, making their usual dividend payment at the close of the present year.

Rockefeller Appears More Like '60 Possibility; Bouyed by Trip West

Editor's note: Continuing on-the-spot coverage of presidential hopefuls by The Associated Press, Pulitzer Prize-winner, Reiman Nixon sizes up Nelson A. Rockefeller's position after covering the governor's Far West swing.

By REIMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Is Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller going to take the big plunge for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination?

He says he hasn't made up his mind.

But he returned to New York Monday from a four-day swing through the Far West, obviously buoyed by what he found there. As a result, he looks much more like a potential candidate today than he did a week ago.

Information he received on the trip has given him a new insight into the political picture in the West.

Rockefeller spent two days in Vice President Richard M. Nixon's home state, California, and one in Oregon, where Nixon appears equally as strong. He stopped briefly in Washington and Idaho.

In California and Oregon, the governor expected to find, and did find, blocs of Nixon backers as solid as anywhere in the United States.

But people close to him say he also found a certain amount of uneasiness among West Coast Republicans as to whether Nixon, if nominated, could win the election next year.

Rockefeller won't discuss that. Conforming to political tradition, he merely says, "Whoever the Republicans nominate will be elected."

In the West, he made a number of speeches. Sprinkled through the audiences, except at the strictly Republican party shindigs, were numerous people who identified themselves as Democrats and independents.

Some said they liked him. Some were noncommittal.

He tried hard to erase any image of himself as a political glamor boy, equipped only with charm and good looks.

He says he doesn't believe the Republican nomination is in anybody's pocket.

"I haven't seen any evidence of what I presume you would call political commitments," he said. "I would assume that the delegates would not put their votes today in an envelope and seal them and then just take them out on the day of the convention."

He indicates now that his next move will be a foray into the Midwest, probably in late December.

It may take him into Wisconsin, scene of one of the nation's most important weather-vane primary elections.

Rockefeller says he is going to spell out his views on the problem of agriculture. Either Wisconsin or Minnesota could be the arena for this speech.

Then, sometime in January or early February, he says he will announce his decision on trying for the nomination.

At the moment, he appears to be edging toward the plunge.

THOMAS A. FEENEY

Kingston Builder Of Barges Dies At Home Monday

A leading boat builder of the area and one of the last survivors of old Delaware & Hudson Canal era died Monday following a long illness.

Thomas A. Feeney, 87, succumbed at his home, 49 West Chestnut Street, and with him passed many memories of the old canal from here to Honesdale, Pa., boating on the Hudson River and a boat building saga that ran from wooden craft to the steel barges that ply New York State waterways.

Funeral Friday

Mr. Feeney's funeral will be held from the family residence Friday at 9:30 a. m., thence to St. Mary's Church, where at 10 o'clock a solemn Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Feeney residence any time after 7 p. m. today.

Mr. Feeney, who was founder of Feeney Enterprises, was president of Reliance Marine Transportation Construction Corporation at the time of his death.

As a boy he boated on the old D & H Canal, then the Hudson River and eventually went into the shipyard field, building wooden barges. He progressed with the times, and joined by his sons, eventually went into construction of steel vessels at the Reliance Marine yard on Abel Street in the Wilbur section of the city.

Barges His Monument

Feeney barges can be found plying the Hudson River and carrying cargoes that pass through waterways in the Great Lakes sector.

His vivid memory of old canal days enabled him to spin yarns that were enjoyed by his friends

President Eyes Funds For Space Most Attention On Saturn Rocket

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower set his sights today on space and the budget to finance its exploration.

He proceeded to discuss with Administrator T. Keith Glennan the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's requests for more money starting next July 1.

In Hands of Civilian

NASA is the civilian agency with full responsibility—the military no longer has any—for perfecting huge space rockets.

One NASA project is Saturn. The goal: A booster rocket with 1½ million pounds of thrust. This would double the push which sent a Soviet rocket around the moon and it would be a big step toward getting a manned rocket aloft.

Congress already has put 104 million dollars for Saturn.

For the current fiscal year Congress set aside $500,575,000 for all civilian space activities. The figure appears likely to go up, although some of the increase might be only on paper.

Military Share About Half

Space operations still would claim only a comparatively small part of the total budget. The military share is the big one—roughly half.

The defense budget may go a bit higher, too.

Eisenhower went over military spending plans Monday with Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy, Budget director Maurice H. Stans and eight other Washington officials. The outcome was a tentative agreement to give the armed services a little more money and the Navy and Air Force a little less money.

This would mean that military spending would cross from a little below 41 billion dollars for the current fiscal year to a little above for next year. It would mean a small cut in military personnel which now stands at about 2½ million.

The trend is toward putting more reliance and cash into modern weapons rather than men in uniform; toward missiles rather than manned bombers.

Governor, Wife Plan Rest in Venezuela

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. and Mrs. Rockefeller will leave Monday night for a week's vacation at their ranch in Venezuela.

They will spend Thanksgiving there.

The vacation follows a period of intensive traveling by the governor. He has made trips to the West Coast and the Midwest for what were generally interpreted as soundings of his potential strength for the Republican nomination for president.

The trip next week will be Rockefeller's third to his Venezuelan ranch since he was elected governor a year ago.

Food and Drug Administration officials said the shipment of 600 pounds to Nashville was made by a Chicago wholesaler whom they didn't identify. Samples were tested at a government laboratory at Cincinnati and found to be contaminated.

Tests on Diabetes Being Conducted Through Nov. 21

Ulster County joins with hundreds of other communities throughout the country in sponsoring Diabetes Week, which opened Monday and continues through Saturday. The immediate objective of the week is to detect hidden cases of diabetes in the community and bring them under medical care.

The local effort is part of a nationwide diabetes detection drive, which is conducted by the American Diabetes Association to find one million unknown diabetics in the country. Diabetes Week combines detection and education; it is in no way concerned with fund-raising.

Dr. Curtis P. Bight, chairman of the local drive, said that the detection drive has been planned by the Ulster County Diabetes Association. Dreyacks containing treated strips of paper are available at all drug stores in Ulster County. These may be (Continued on Page 8, Col. 2)

Decision on Jury Puts Off Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—Queens County Judge George P. Stier has delayed starting the rape trial of four Negro youths until their lawyers make up their minds whether they want a jury.

Two of the defendants Monday sought to waive a jury. The other two demanded a jury. The four are being tried together, charged with raping a 14-year-old white girl, Elvira Negri, last June 18 in a schoolyard.

Stier previously had ruled that all four defendants must waive a jury trial but he cannot force one to.

Attorneys for two of the defendants—Edward Jacobs, 17, and John Rich, 16—asked the court's permission to waive a jury. A lawyer representing the other two, Jacob Bethea and Henry Stokes, both 16, stood on their right for a jury trial.

Jacobs and Rich have been free in $25,000 bail each. The other two have been imprisoned for lack of similar bail.

Stier recessed court to give the defendants time to discuss whether they will waive a jury.

Orange-Curry Spaghetti Is a Thrifty Party Dish

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

Want to give a smart party for very little money? Then try this unusual curry sauce of meats, fruits and seasonings on spaghetti. It's really an eating event.

Here's a menu for that party:

Menu: Orange-curry spaghetti, condiments (peanuts, flaked coconut, chutney), fresh vegetable relishes, cranberry tarts, coffee or spiced hot tea.

Orange-Curry Spaghetti (Makes 4 servings)

One-half pound ground beef, 1/2 pound ground pork, 2 cups orange juice, 1 1/2 teaspoons cornstarch, 1/2 teaspoon curry powder, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 cup seedless raisins, 1 tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces spaghetti.

Combine beef, veal and pork; mix well. Cook over low heat until browned, stirring occasionally. Add orange juice, cornstarch, curry powder, nutmeg and raisins and cook, covered, over low heat, stirring occasionally, 35 to 40 minutes. Meanwhile, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally until tender. Drain in colander. Serve with orange-curry sauce.

This noodle custard recipe is excellent for dinner. Different and delightfully flavored with onion soup mix.

Noodle Egg Custard (Makes 4 to 6 servings)

One tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces medium egg noodles, 6 eggs, beaten; 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, one 1/2-ounce pack-

Drain in colander. Combine eggs, milk, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper and onion soup mix; mix well. Stir in noodles. Turn into greased 2-quart casserole. Bake in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) 1 hour or until set.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Canadian bacon, noodle egg custard, whole carrots with chopped parsley, enriched bread butter or margarine, cole slaw, cranberry tarts, coffee, tea, milk.

Rules on Bingo Ease Up, Buses Are Permitted Now

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—It's a little easier now for operators of bingo games to bring in players by the busload.

The State Lottery Control Commission Monday revised its rules to allow operators of bingo games to provide transportation for players. But the operators must obtain written permission from the commission.

Previously, operators could not provide transportation unless they could show that it had been provided regularly for three previous years in the course of the sponsoring organization's regular activities.

The commission can revoke its approval in the event of violations of the bingo licensing law or local law or "if it is established there is no further need" for transportation.

The revision was one of several made in the regulations governing conduct of bingo in communities that have made the game legal.

Other new regulations: Ban players from giving tips or gifts to persons operating, conducting or assisting in the conduct of bingo games.

Forbid game officials to play in the games.

Require operators to specify in advance the terms of multiple games played with more than one card and the amount of each prize.

The commission polices the conduct of legalized bingo in the state.

Bids Commission
Develop Public Education Policy

HARRIMAN, N. Y. (AP) — A presidential commission to develop public policies on education was proposed Monday night by an official of the Fund for the Advancement of Education.

Alvin C. Eurich, vice president of the fund, told the National Manpower Council Conference:

"The basic difficulties in formulating public policies for education arise from the fact that we do not know who controls education, nor even what the major issues are to which such policies should be directed."

He suggested that a commission be set up to overcome popular fallacies about education, set national goals, develop policies and "establish an arrangement whereby we can maintain a strong school system in the United States aimed at developing the capacity of all of our citizens, regardless of race, color, creed, or economic status."

Eurich addressed 80 leaders in various fields attending a conference on the effects of government policies and actions upon the nation's manpower resources. The conference continues through Friday.

Judge Closes Doors

About Testimony

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman has gone behind closed doors to decide whether some testimony in the conspiracy trial of 21 delegates to the Appalachian underworld convention should be ruled out.

Kaufman has not indicated when he will hand down his opinion on the question.

Testimony is expected to resume today.

The defendants are charged with giving evasive and false answers about why they attended the meeting Nov. 14, 1957, at the home of the late Joseph Barbara Sr.

The defense contends State Police illegally detained more than 60 persons who attended the conclave. Police testimony about the raid should be expunged from the trial, the defense has argued.

Local Choruses
To Take Part in Dutchess Event

Preparations for the final event of the Hudson-Champlain celebration in Dutchess County, which will be a choral festival to be held Saturday Nov. 21 at the IBM Country Club at 8 p. m. are nearing completion.

William T. Love Jr., Dutchess County chairman, said five singing groups from the Hudson Valley will participate. They include the IBM Male chorus, the IBM Mixed chorus, the Lyric Choristers of Kingston; the Mendelssohn Club of Kingston, and the Poughkeepsie Community Mixed chorus.

The Community Mixed chorus of Poughkeepsie under the direction of Albert G. Hunter Jr., began its eleventh season this Fall. Currently the membership numbers 150 singers. The chorus gives concerts for the benefit of churches, hospital and Parent-

Teacher Associations. A group of twelve men called the "Beaux" also appear at most concerts in addition to a mixed group of 20 singers called the "A Capella Singers." Robert I. Potter is president of the board of directors.

The Mendelssohn Club of Kingston has been contributing good music in this area and in surrounding communities for 56 years, having celebrated the golden anniversary six years ago, according to Harrison C. Cornish, president. Their annual concerts are free, with the membership supporting the activities.

The Lyric Choristers of Kingston have been in existence since 1956, according to Mrs. Richard Matthews, president, and have presented local and road concerts each season since.

Tickets for the choral festival are free, and may be obtained at the IBM Country Club office, or from any member of the participating groups or at the Hudson-Champlain office in the Dutchess County building at Poughkeepsie.

THE RIVALS

With the passing days, the keenest students of world communism become more and more persuaded that massive rivalry is shaping up between the Soviet Union and Red China. If they are right, it may prove one of the West's brightest hopes for the future.

The experts ascribe many reasons for the rivalry.

There may be competition for territory on their joint Asiatic border, especially with China's burgeoning population in search of space.

As China slowly but surely rises in industrial power, there may be competition for the industrial supremacy of the Communist world, and for the markets therein.

And as the two giants build their strength, the time may come when they will contest each other bitterly for the political supremacy of the Communist world.

The revolutions in Russia and China, while both Communist, had widely different roots. They have produced vastly disparate regimes with distinct patterns of leadership, of thinking, and of doing.

Yet this goes against the very grain of communism as we know it. Fundamentally it is single-minded, having one core of power, charting one course, permitting of no deviation, no rivalry with its purpose.

To have two great Communist nations in being, following separate paths that seem to veer even farther apart, is to strike at the foundation of communism's nature.

The great urge in both Russia and Red China, must inevitably be to have one kind of communism emerge in full dominance. So long as two kinds exist, one is a criticism of the other, and hence a threat to it.

The expert view today is that each of these two nations sees that threat plainly, that each is already framing policies which take account of it. For instance, Nikita Khrushchev's expressed desire for an accommodation with the West could be a protective move, in quest of combinations of power that would keep Red China in check.

It is also the growing conclusion of the experts that sooner or later, possibly within a generation or two, the great Red rivals will be driven to collide to settle the issue of supremacy.

Few will hazard that this might mean war between them. But virtually all believe a cataclysmic clash of some kind may result. And they feel that America and its free friends may be the lucky beneficiaries of this mutually destructive collision.

Tourists report customers have to stand in long waiting lines in Russian stores, but appear to enjoy it. Russians know they must stay in line, or else.

BUT WHO DOESN'T?

Despite their inclination to laughter and play, children in grades four, five and six "have many inner anxieties and are in need of security and of reassurances from parents and teachers." This rather less than startling fact is set forth in a pamphlet issued by the Federal Office of Education.

The pamphlet summarizes discussions at 40 conferences of educators, and observations in visits to classrooms in various parts of the country. Such a summary may help to remind parents and teachers of their duty to the citizens of tomorrow. We are inclined to feel, however, that the cause of education would be better served if less time were spent reiterating the obvious.

Of course children in grades four, five and six have inner anxieties. Of course they are in need of reassurances and a sense of security. Who doesn't? And who isn't?

Prime Minister Nehru of India says the government is taking all steps to meet the Red Chinese threat, "although I am unable to give you details." Indians might feel more secure if there were fewer assurances and more details.

PASSPORT PROBLEMS

The effort of the State Department to obtain a Congressional decision as to what an American passport is and who is entitled to one ought not to be withheld. If Communists or Anarchists or felons or anyone else is not entitled to an American passport, the decision must be in Congress and can be nowhere else. Congress should pass a law.

To show how desperate the case can be, take this testimony before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The witness is Martin Popper, a New York lawyer. He was shown a copy of his passport application which contains three questions, as follows:

"Are you now a member of the Communist Party? (Write 'yes' or 'no.')

"Have you ever been a member of the Communist Party? (Write 'yes' or 'no.')

"If ever a member, state period of membership from — to —."

Frank S. Tavenner, counsel for the Committee, engaged in the following colloquy with Popper:

"... Do you observe any answer was given to any one of those three questions?"

"Mr. Popper. No; there was no answer given to any of the questions."

"Mr. Tavenner. Why did you not answer those questions?"

"Mr. Popper. Because it had been decided by the Supreme Court the State Department had no authority or power to ask the questions."

"Mr. Tavenner. The purpose of this hearing, Mr. Popper, is to determine, among other things, whether or not the Secretary of State should be given authority, by legislation, to require passport applicants to furnish information of the nature called for in those three questions."

"I would, therefore, like to ask you if at the time you executed your application for a passport you were a member of the Communist Party?"

"Mr. Popper. I respectfully decline to answer that question, Mr. Tavenner, on the following grounds: I understand the Supreme Court's decision in the Watkins Case to mean that this Committee's authorizing resolution is so vague that to compel testimony under it would violate the due process clause of the Federal Constitution and that the jurisdiction which the Committee has assumed is so limitless that its inquiries into the area of speech, press, or political belief and association abridges the freedoms guaranteed by the First Amendment."

"Furthermore, the subject matter of this investigation is equally limitless and, therefore, violates these same constitutional guarantees."

"I add that to the extent it is ascertainable, to the extent that the subject matter of this inquiry is ascertainable, this Committee is not authorized by Congress to conduct it."

"Therefore, I respectfully contend that the Committee has no authority to conduct this investigation."

"I also decline to answer the question because I do not believe it is pertinent."

"Mr. Tavenner. You object, then, on the ground of pertinency, as well as the ground of jurisdiction?"

"Mr. Popper. Yes, on all of the grounds which I have just stated."

This is a very long quotation from the record but it states the entire case for the need for legislation. The Supreme Court, in the Watkins Decision, deprived the State Department of the right to decide who is and who is not entitled to a passport, but it gave that right to no other department of government. This means that passports are exit permits and re-entry permits for American citizens but that the United States may not determine whether it will or will not grant such an exit permit. The Supreme Court decision in the Watkins Case was not good law or practical administration. Congress must therefore provide good law and the Passport Office practical administration.

Bills to correct the errors of the Watkins Decision have been introduced in Congress. We are living in a troubled world. Passports issued promiscuously may fall into wrong hands as did many passports issued to Americans who fought in the Spanish Civil War. Popper was issued a passport to go to Germany to attend the Nuremberg trials in 1946. Then he went to Russia. There are his words:

"I received an invitation from one of the distinguished lawyers who was a member of the Soviet legal delegation to go to the Soviet Union and to talk to the lawyers there about my observations of the Nuremberg trial."

I select this testimony because it is typical of the problem.

★ The Doctor Says ★

More Than Spelling Differs In HYPO and HYPERtension

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

These days, almost everyone you meet seems to have blood pressure on the brain. Those with low blood pressure think they've "poor circulation" or a "weak heart." Those with high blood pressure live in fear of a stroke, a coronary attack or loss of vision.

Actually, these fears have little basis in fact. Most persons with pressure readings that are below the statistical average have levels that are their particular normal. A Hall of Fame baseball player of a generation ago never had a level of 100 throughout his long and fiery career. Other hypotensive persons with low pressure are merely suffering from fatigue or overwork and their levels rise to the normal range as soon as they're rested.

Rarely does hypotension indicate the presence of some serious underlying condition. Even less often it is wise to try to raise blood pressure without first making an attack on the basic condition that's responsible for the lowered level.

But it's hypertension (high pressure)—notice the difference in spelling—that people worry most about. Particularly men in highly responsible positions and overweight women who are nearing the menopause or who have already passed through this stage in their lives.

Now, if you've gotten a high pressure reading, especially from a strange doctor like an insurance examiner or a physician at an induction center, here's what you might do to find out if your health and life are endangered by this finding.

● Check with your family doctor. Make sure the reading is not a false reading due to a natural feeling of tension when you're examined by a stranger.

● Have your doctor compare his own reading with his earlier readings. Maybe the level that's above the statistical average is normal for you and members of your family who are built like you.

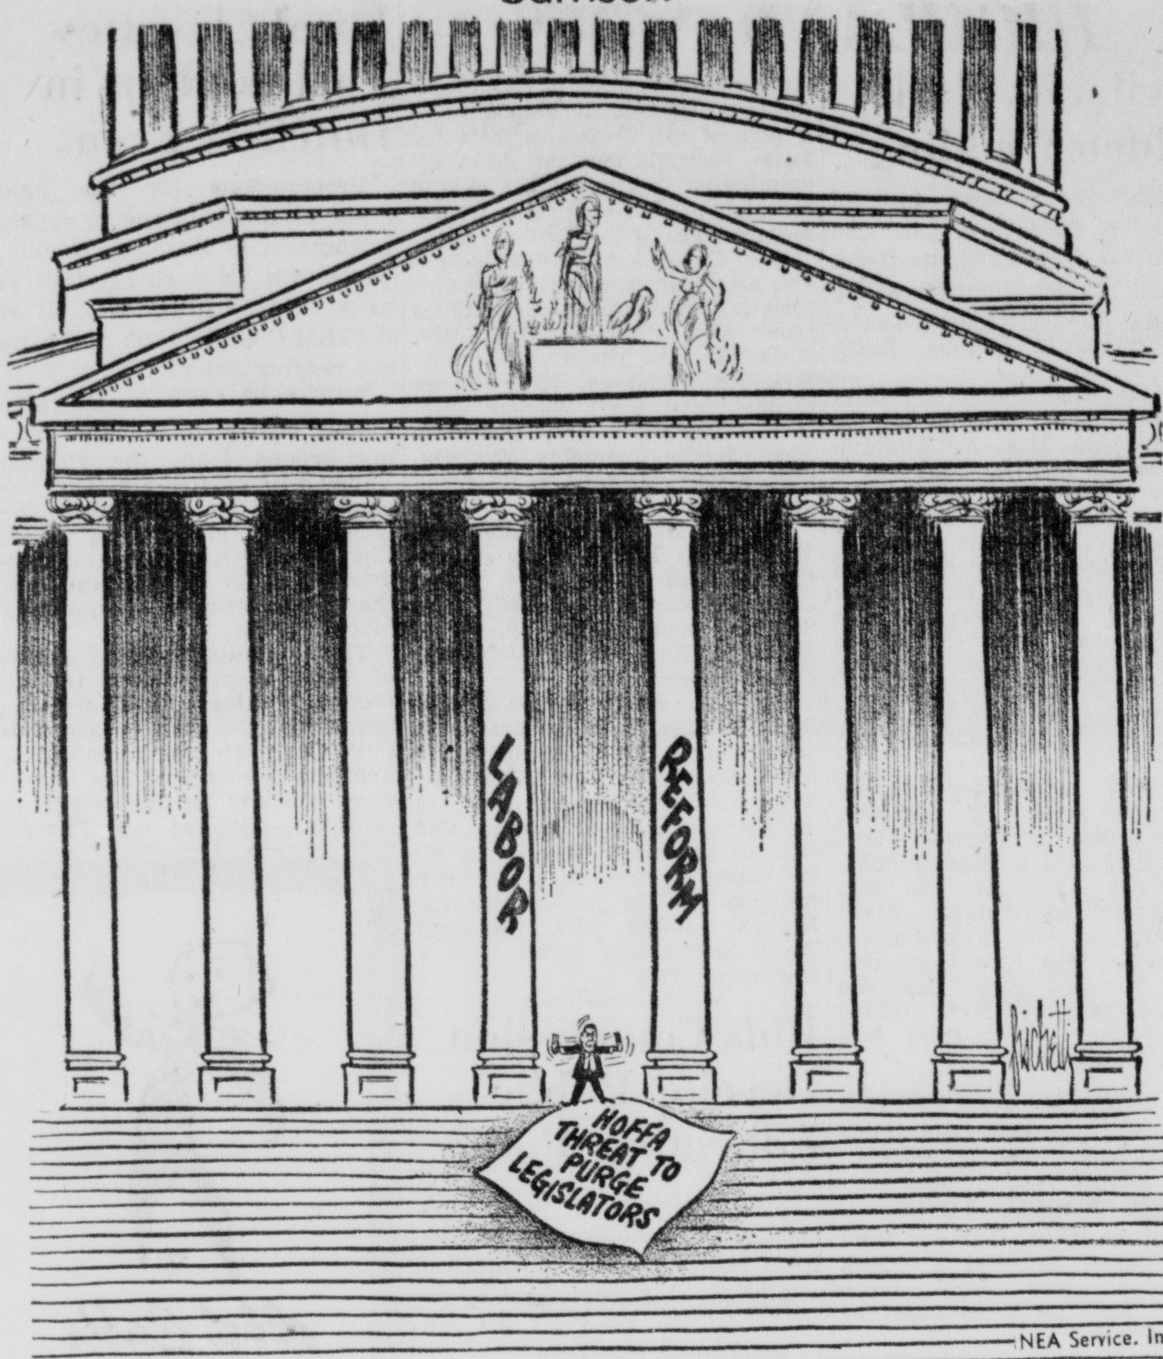

● If your level has risen, ask for a complete examination to include a heart tracing, chest X-ray and tests of kidney function.

● If a basic explanation is found for the rising level of your blood pressure, you are in need of intensive treatment directed to the cause of your symptomatic hypertension.

● If there is no evidence of any basic disturbance and your blood pressure tends to fluctuate widely, you are probably in the largest group of hypertensive patients whose blood pressure elevation is called "essential" for want of a better name.

In another column, I shall try to tell you what you can do to help stabilize an essential hypertension.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

An admission that "the American labor movement is in trouble" has just been made here by none other than Walter P. Reuther.

Speaking before several hundred delegates from the 68-union, seven-million-member Industrial Union Division of AFL-CIO, Reuther explains his statement by saying that "America is in crisis because profits have been given top value over people."

The one, most immediate action which brings this on, says Reuther, is the Supreme Court decision upholding the old Taft-Hartley law injunction which sent 500,000 steelworkers "back into involuntary servitude."

BUT ON TOP OF THIS there is the new Landrum-Griffin labor bill. It is a major legislative defeat for union labor leaders, already badly beaten on economic and social fronts.

With this admission, Walter Reuther puts forward a plan for more militant unionism to correct what he calls labor's softness. "Prosperity makes people soft," Reuther admits. "We ought to toughen up. When we adopted our ethical practices code, we met in the Roulette Room of the Monte Carlo Hotel in Miami. This is symptomatic of what I am talking about," Reuther explained as the delegates laughed.

In this comment, some observers see an implied criticism of the leadership of AFL-CIO George Meany. He spoke later, also against the steel strike injunction.

But — "We're going backwards," Reuther admitted at factions he warned. "You can't have our support on that basis."

But it was to President Eisenhower personally that the labor leader addressed his most scathing remarks. He charged the President with taking part in a witch hunt against the American labor movement on the steel strike, labor legislation, civil rights, medical care for the aged, aid to education, housing and the $1.25-an-hour minimum wage.

All this is not new. But it does indicate that this important element in the American labor movement, once so dominant in economic and political life, now feels its back is to the wall.

Bilked Over Milk

LAKEVIEW, Colo. (AP) —

Authorities in this small town figure they've seen everything now. Seems a salesman sold two milking machines to a Lakeview farmer. As a down payment, the salesman made off with the farmer's only cow.

one point in his hour-and-a-half harangue to the IUD. "The merger we put together in 1955 never go off the ground. . . . We have never mobilized the potential power of its 15 million members. . . . We have been pushed around and put through the meat grinder. If we sulk in our tents we'll be pushed back and back. . . . We have to stand up."

THE SPECIFIC PROGRAMS which Reuther calls for within the labor movement to change this are:

● 1. Establish a court of last resort to end jurisdictional disputes between craft and industrial unions.

● 2. Stop petty bickering over three members in this or that union and organize three million unorganized workers.

● 3. Get a common defense fund to aid all unions in co-operation against co-ordinated employer interests.

● 4. Educate union members and carry this to the American people by a stepped-up public relations program.

The political action program which Reuther proposes is not only anti-Republican but also anti-Southern Democrat.

Reuther declares bluntly that Democratic leaders should be told, "You better make up your mind where the party stands and what it believes in."

He cited a photo of Senator Eastland (D-Miss.) with his arm around Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) with the comment, "They ought to be in the same party." He declared that Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va.) made political love to Charlie Halleck (R-Ind.).

Reuther charges that this coalition of Republicans and Dixiecrats against labor also thwarted civil rights legislation. To both

Douglas' Dissent on Steel Called Self-Contradiction

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Lawyers in many parts of the country are expressing surprise at the reasoning used by Justice Douglas of the Supreme Court of the United States in his dissenting opinion in the steel case. They point to it as another example of the tendency of present-day justices to consider themselves as writers of legislation rather than of judicial rulings and as exponents of what the "law of the land" ought to be rather than what it is in the light of precedents and previous decisions.

For Justice Douglas, in his recent opinion, "contradicted the reasoning he himself used when he spoke not in dissent, but for the majority of the court in a case decided fifteen years ago."

1944 Ruling Quoted

The other day Justice Douglas didn't agree with eight justices that an eighty-day court injunction was necessary, ordering all strikers in the entire steel industry back to work. The dissenting Justice said, "There is nothing in this record to sustain the conclusion that it is necessary to send 500,000 men back to work to give the Defense Department all it needs for the nation's safety."

Justice Douglas seemed to think that a blanket injunction might be proved unnecessary and a portion of the strikers need return to work. But in the 1944 case, known as Bowles v. Willingham, Justice Douglas, writing in behalf of a majority of the Supreme Court, took a different view of blanket injunctions or court orders. The case involved the rent-control provisions of the Emergency Price Control Act. This law was not unconstitutional, said the Douglas opinion, just because it required the administrator to fix maximum rents which were generally fair and equitable instead of applying the fair and equitable test to each individual landlord. Incidentally, the landlord got no hearing before the administrator issued his rent-control order, and he was limited solely to judicial review after the order fixing his rent became effective. Justice Douglas called this "due process," and he wrote:

"A member of the class which is regulated may suffer economic losses not shared by others. His property may have utility and depreciate in value as a consequence of regulation. But that has never been a barrier to the exercise of police power. . . .

"A nation which can demand the lives of its men and women in the waging of that war is under no constitutional necessity of providing a system of price control on the domestic front which will assure each landlord a 'fair return' on his property."

Justice Douglas is today disturbed that a whole class of workers might be injured by a blanket injunction or order when only an injunction against a part of their number might be necessary. Yet, when dealing with "landlords," he was not concerned by the fact that individual property owners might suffer by a broad rent-control order.

There are those who say that, because the "cold war" isn't a shooting war, it isn't an "emergency." Yet, judging by the amount of money being spent by the government and the vast numbers of men in our armed forces stationed overseas to guard against aggression, the threat of danger is real. To argue that the ordering of men to work in only a few plants is all that needs to be done disregards the risks to be taken in selecting which plants and what supplies shall be favored. There is no provision in existing law which empowers the President to engage in any such discrimination. So far as the government is concerned, it depends on the steel industry as a whole to supply defense needs, and there is no way of knowing in advance the damage that might be done by letting some steel plants operate and others stay closed.

"Distortion" Is Seen

Justice Douglas himself was quite ready to turn this whole matter over to the district court to decide. He conceded that the lower court might find that "the only way to remove the peril to national safety caused by the strike was to issue the broad, blanket injunction." But Justice Douglas would have sent the case back for re-determination as to which plants should be reopened. He wanted as solicitor of the rights of property owners when in 1944 he did not urge that each case be tried on its merits and that no blanket order be issued.

It is precisely this distortion of judicial power which has occasioned much of the criticism of the present Supreme Court. There is no way of knowing what is the settled law because too much support is given to the fallacy that the justices may in each case disregard rulings and precedents of the past and proclaim what the law should be or what the Constitution ought to say. There can be no lasting confidence in a shifting judiciary.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Before me is the Ulster Republican of Wednesday, Oct. 30, 1850. That makes it some nine years older than a century. This Kingston paper told more in their advertisements then it did in its news column. On the front page, of its seven columns, it uses four for stories like "The Bride of the Guillotine" or "Pretty Louise" and in fine print.

Those were the days of candles. On advertisement in fact reads: "Candles, mould tallow, sperm, stearne, wax and wax colored, at C. W. Schaffer's." Another advertisement reads "Gold and silver spectacles for sale by B. F. Vallet."

You could buy leeches at C. S. Clay's drug store. A "correct likeness of the celebrated songstress, Jenny Lind, with a handsome gilt frame, could be had at the Ulster County Store for only one dollar." Perkins and Putnam. Also "New music, An assortment of Jenny Lind's Swedish melodies, operatic songs and ballads, arranged for the piano by Herr Kuhe, the accompanist of the celebrated vocalist. Just received and for sale at Chipp's bookstore, opposite the Court House, Kingston."

E. DuBois and Co. was advertising, "flour by the barrel or otherwise. Also mackerel in small or large packages." Vallet had for sale "accordions and music boxes." You could buy looking glasses, all sizes of gilt and mahogany frames at Schaffer's.

Good old-fashioned smoked beef, hams, cheese and other provisions could also be had at Schaffer's. That must have been some market. One can see by these advertisements that folks of a century ago in Kingston lacked for nothing when it came to good food and items for the home.

I wish I had found the following item before election. It is just as good any year. This was written 109 years ago. "Your duty to your country requires you to lay aside all business on Tuesday next, and repair to the polls to deposit your ballots, for the friends and supporters of democratic principles and measures—the candidates of your choice. Are you prepared for the conflict? Have you seen your neighbors and ascertained to a certainty that they are coming with you? If not, lose no time to see them. Set about the work at once. Delays are always dangerous, but especially in conducting a political campaign. You will find the Whigs thoroughly organized and out to a man. Let them be met, and put down in their deserve."

Those were the days when you could go on the beautiful Steamboat Mezeppa, captained by P. H. Smith from Rondout to Albany for only 50 cents. It left Rondout at 8:30 a. m. every Monday, Wednesday and Friday and left Albany every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 11:2 p. m. (I take that to mean, 1:30).

The Steamboat Norwich had a larger advertisement. It was captained by David Abbey Jr. and Isaac Delavere, was clerk, it ran from New York to Rondout and back, carried freight and passengers. She was run by Thomas W. Cornell and Co. She delivered and received freight at the E. Fitch and Co's dock, at Wilbur throughout the season. Another boat, The Highlander, was captained by A. L. Anderson. That was called the Rondout and New York, Anderson, Romer and Co. The North America was also their boat.

British Housing Unit Gives Oldsters Independence

BY MARIE DAERR

"Help us stay independent as long as possible."

One needn't be an expert on aging to know that this thought is uppermost in the minds of most older people.

Recently, in Hackney, an old borough of London, I saw Eastway Park, an experimental housing development that is answering this plea in an admirable way. Opened a year ago, the development is proving such a success that the London County Council plans to build four more like it.

In Eastway Park's layout are a three section, two-story home, in which 80 infirm old people live, and four blocks of two-story apartments, which surround the home. About 30 elderly people who are well enough to be on their own live in those flats.

Eastway's program is aimed to keep the flat-dwellers "on their own."

"Probably most important is a low-cost hot meal served at noon in the home, to which the flat-dwellers are invited," said Mrs. Gertrude Grouse, Eastway's superintendent. "Other services for them include help with cleaning and laundry, and nursing care, if they are ill."

"One 90-year-old who is extremely proud of her little flat gets a special concession. We send her hot dinner over to her."

Flat residents come to the home for concerts, films and other entertainment. Home residents often accept invitations to come to tea in the flats.

At Eastway, the emphasis is on safety. Floors are nonslip. Bath-tubs have portable seats. Special "grape" beds from moving. A finger touch keeps the elevator door from closing. Bells and night lights are in each room. Classes in basketry, needlework and other crafts keep Eastway residents happily occupied. Items turned out in these classes are sold to provide special treats for Eastway's people.

Much glass and pretty pastel colors give a feeling of light and space to Eastway. Shops and public transportation are near by.

Next door are playgrounds. "There is no better tonic for older people than watching young people at play," said Mrs. Grouse.

Q—Is it necessary to have a birth certificate as proof of age when applying for Social Security? The courthouse at which my birth was recorded burned, and records were destroyed.

—H. S.

A—A birth certificate is the best proof, but other documents that may be offered are: baptismal certificate, hospital birth record, notarized family Bible entry and school naturalization, immigration, military, passport or vaccination papers. Insurance policies, and marriage records may also be helpful. You may ask the U. S. Bureau of Census, Pittsburgh, Kan., to search your personal census records for age proof. This costs three or four dollars, depending on whether you can wait three to four weeks for the information, or want it in a week or two.

Q—When a husband dies, does the wife receive the monthly widow's benefit as well as the widow's payment?—W. E. G.

A—She receives only the widow's benefit, equal to three-fourths of her husband's primary benefit. Her wife's benefit, equal to half the primary benefit, is discontinued.

Seek 50 Million Yule Gifts for Overseas Needy

NEW YORK—Support of the American financial world is being enlisted by Christmas Gifts for the World, a private non-profit foundation, for its aim to distribute 50 million gifts this winter among needy people abroad through CARE, the Catholic Relief Services, and the Foster Parents' Plan, Inc.

Financiers and businessmen are being asked by Christmas Gifts for the World to contribute in any amount to any of these overseas relief agencies, and to write ten or more letters to friends and business associates, urging them to follow their example.

The three agencies will choose the recipients of their food packages and other supplies on the basis of need and without any regard for race, creed or color. In each case, the gift will be identified as an expression of friendship from the American people.

The plan was devised by Edward A. Merkle, president of the Madison Fund, Inc., a closed-end mutual investment fund. While abroad, Mr. Merkle was deeply impressed with the contrast between American abundance and the abject poverty in many foreign countries.

"We hope, by means of these letters, to promote an outpouring of good-will that will circle the globe with a fresh spark of understanding," Mr. Merkle said in the appeal to financiers, bankers and businessmen throughout the nation.

FBI Agents Spot Couple in Group, Sought for Months

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — FBI agents with long memories spotted two faces in a downtown crowd by chance Monday and recognized them as a man and his wife wanted for several months.

The agents were on another mission when they noticed two faces familiar from wanted circulars. They arrested Thomas J. Lynch, 42, and his wife, Mary Ann, 44.

The Lynchs were wanted on federal charges of sending $6,879.83 in stolen money by telegram from Massena, N. Y., to Milwaukee.

The FBI said the money was stolen from the Perini Corp., a contractor on the St. Lawrence River Power Dam for the New York State Power Authority at Massena.

Lynch allegedly issued checks and converted them to his own use while office manager for the company, the FBI said.

The FBI said an audit showed a total loss to the company of about $125,000.

The Lynchs left on a trip around the world last May, touring Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Rome and the West Indies. They had been living here a week under assumed names.

Both were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner M. Lester Lynch in Jersey City. Lynch was held in $50,000 bond, his wife in $10,000.

Active in Republican circles, Mr. DeWitt was a member of the Town of Woodstock Republican Club.

He was also a former trustee of the Zena school district and was chairman of the board of Woodstock Fire Commissioners and a member of the Woodstock Fire Company. Fraternally he was a member of Kingston Lodge 10 F&AM, of Kingston; the Woodstock Square Club and Bearsville Lodge 533, IOOF.

Coroner Francis J. McCordie was notified and gave a verdict of death from natural causes. Mr. DeWitt had suffered from a slight heart ailment for which he had undergone medical treatment some time ago.

Surviving are his wife, the former Edna Holmizer; a son, Stewart DeWitt and a daughter, Miss Carol Anne DeWitt; two sisters, Mrs. Carl Henderson of Grahamsville and Mrs. Charles Tucker of Kingston. Several nieces and nephews also survive.

Hearing Resumed Today on Viaduct

A Public Service Commission hearing on the city's move to eliminate the Washington Avenue viaduct was resumed today at the court house before PSC Examiner Gerald W. Knapp, who heard additional pros and cons on the matter.

Mayor Edwin F. Radel and Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly appeared for the city to urge the PSC approval of the request for the elimination of the span which has been termed "hazardous and dangerous" to the health and life of the area residents.

The mayor told PSC Examiner Knapp that he wanted to emphasize that the Common Council is a bi-partisan body and he pointed out that "this effort is of a non-political nature."

"The viaduct has outlived its usefulness and it is in an unsafe condition," said the mayor. "It is a hazard to the life and safety of the public."

Appearing for the New York Central Railroad were E. S. Miller, special engineer, who represented C. E. Defendorf, chief engineer, and Ferdinand Schue, assistant general attorney who appeared on behalf of Gerald E. Dwyer, general attorney for the railroad.

Major Radel during his brief remarks stated that the city is "very anxious for action" at the earliest possible time, and he said the city would like to have the work done at no cost to the city.

"But," said the mayor, "if the cost is the only obstacle I'm certain the city would be willing to handle a particular portion of the expense."

Albert Ochner, of 17 Augusta Street, who formerly resided at 503-507 Washington Avenue below the viaduct level, and Irving Dunham, of 2 Murphy Street, appeared at the hearing and urged the immediate removal of the viaduct.

The mayor read abstracts of a letter he received in August from Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, who stated that he had introduced legislation, which was signed by Governor Rockefeller, placing Washington Avenue from the city line to the intersection of Hurley Avenue and Washington Avenue, on the arterial route map.

"As a result of this," the assemblyman said, "it may well be that this whole project can be handled at state expense." Wilson suggested in the letter that the city "immediately initiate action by filing a proper petition under Section 91 of the Railroad Law."

Wilson further said, "all technical handles can then be overcome by the time the current project from St. James Street to the Thruway is completed. Demolition of the viaduct will not be held up because of incomplete planning or legal procedures."

Wilson pointed out the proceeding must be instituted by an interested party. "It is obvious," he wrote the mayor, "that the railroad will not initiate such a proceeding, therefore it is up to the city to make the first move."

Robert Carnright, assistant county attorney, said he appeared for the Ulster County Board of Supervisors and for Assemblyman Wilson, who he said are in favor of removal of the viaduct.

A railroad official asked Mayor Radel if the City of Kingston would assume the road expense if the viaduct was torn down. "The city would assume the city's share of the expense," the mayor replied.

James Martin, supervisor of the 12th Ward said the big question in the mind of the people of the county is "why the PSC had not gone ahead and given approval for the removal of this monster."

Examiner Knapp in defense of the PSC referred the supervisor to his statement in 1955 when he adjourned a hearing "without prejudice."

Corporation Counsel Kelly, speaking for the city told the examiner, "we appreciate that the PSC has not closed this hearing and we realize the commission could not render any decision up to this time."

Why We Say--
TRAVEL
USED TO BE WORK: Traveling is now a pleasant national pastime, but the word onetime meant the opposite. Travel is derived from the French "traveller" which originally meant labor, because with poor transportation it was considered work to travel before and during the 19th century.

Harkin, commanding officer, 1st Howitzer Battalion, 156th Artillery, New York Army National Guard, and his staff at the state armory here Monday afternoon, November 23.

Following the reception and dinner at the armory, General Stevenson and Colonel Harkin will participate in ceremonies to be conducted at the Senate House Museum at 3 p. m. A Lafayette sword, family heirloom of Julian Kenneth Canfield, former Kingston resident, now of East Greenbush, N. Y., will be presented to the Board of Trustees of the Museum by the general. A framed treatise, "I Am the Guard" will be presented by Colonel Harkin.

The public is cordially invited to attend the brief ceremonies at the Senate House. A tour of the museum will follow the ceremonies.

Other Changes in Prospect

Gen. Thomas D. White told the NATO group other changes are in prospect, such as a rearrangement of military forces now in Europe and creating of a fast-striking combat unit based in the United States but ready for action anywhere.

White's views dovetailed with the forecast made by McElroy to newsmen in Augusta and on his return to Washington.

McElroy said the 1961 defense budget could be cleared with the National Security Council within 10 days and get Eisenhower's final approval before he takes off Dec. 3 for a good will mission to 11 nations.

Military manpower now is about 2 1/2 million. Just where and how many will be pared was not disclosed.

Tests on Diabetes

mailed to the designed center after use.

Arrangements have been made for the public to take the simple test for diabetes through November 21. Because diabetes often exists in hidden form, the test is an effective way to detect the condition and to bring it under prompt medical control. Diabetes is a family concern for two reasons. As an ailment, it has strong hereditary aspects. And a diabetic's needs include a careful diet, adequate sleep and exercise—needs which require the cooperation of other members of the family.

Dr. Bight called attention to the theme of the Drive: "Be tested—and be assured." He noted that the diabetic who is detected early and promptly brought under medical care almost always continues to lead a normal life.

End Bickering

known as the "Outer Seven" and the six-nation Common Market that includes West Germany.

Relations between the British and West German governments reached a postwar low early this year.

British newspapers, and officials privately, charged Adenauer with being stubbornly inflexible and trying to block Macmillan's efforts to improve relations between the West and the Soviet Union. There was also talk that Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle were ganging up on Britain in an effort to reduce her influence on the European continent.

Officials in Bonn were highly critical of the British, accusing Macmillan of going soft toward the Soviets and being willing to abandon West Berlin and the long-standing allied aim of German reunification. Adenauer even publicly accused British officials of inspiring an anti-German campaign in the British press.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels joined the space age issues in helping the stock market to a moderate advance early this afternoon.

Trading was fairly active after the ticker tape twice fell behind the pace of transactions for brief spells.

Gains ranged from fractions to around 2 with some wide movers, notably Motorola, running ahead of that. Motorola added better than 6 to earlier gains this year. Thiokol was ahead better than a point and Texas Instruments around a point in the science group.

Steels were aided by industry figures showing a faster than expected acceleration of production, which is expected to be at nearly 80 per cent of capacity this week. U.S. Steel was up better than 2 points.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Lukens also were up more than 2, while Republic was up around a point and Jones & Laughlin around a point.

Motors and chemicals also did well while airlines and aircrafts generally were weak. Other groups showed mixed patterns.

Rails showed fractional changes. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 70 cents to $219.10 with industrials up $1.20, rails up 20 cents and utilities up 20 cents.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were steady.

Forty-five new cases of tuberculosis were reported in the first nine months of this year in Ulster County which has the fifth highest case rate in the state.

This was revealed at the opening of the 53rd annual Christmas Seals Sale last Friday to raise funds for projects to combat TB in the area.

During the program starting the 1959 Christmas Seal sale, Charles J. Tiano, sports editor of The Freeman, accepted the first sheets from Robert S. Russell, general chairman of the campaign in behalf of a major league baseball player, who is recuperating from TB.

Albert (Red) Schoendienst of the Milwaukee Braves and national chairman of the 1959 campaign, who received treatment during the year, expects to be back in uniform next year. Tiano said the Milwaukee second baseman was very much encouraged by the way his friends in the sports world are rallying to help him in the TB campaign.

Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., in announcing about the 45 new cases of TB and Ulster County's fifth place in the state tuberculosis rating reported that a study of the TB problem is being conducted in cooperation with the Department of Health and the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital under the direction of two research scientists.

Chairman Russell paid tribute to the many volunteers who gave hundreds of hours to help prepare the letters containing Christmas Seals for mailing.

During the program opening the campaign in front of the Kingston Savings Bank on Wall Street, The Kings Chorus, under direction of Donald R. Romme, sang Christmas songs and the official 1959 Christmas Seal Song, "I May Never Pass This Way Again."

Contributions in Ulster County will pay for the promotion of the Free Chest X-rays to search for unknown TB and will provide services for patients at the TB Hospital and Infirmary, and will help to pay for intensified research into the prevention and treatment of tuberculosis. The program of the TB and Health Association will also include the development of a School Health Program; professional and public education and joint effort with other organizations to improve the general health of the entire community.

of yesteryear and youngsters who learned the history of the old waterway to Honesdale that was the medium of transportation for coal and other goods, including farm items from this area.

Tom Feeney had a lot of color and life in his stories, and enjoyed telling them. He was proud of his start on the canal and always emphasized it.

There's always a chance for a man who wants to work with his philosophy. He would stress this in talking to youngsters, and add that faith in God goes a long way to make a happy and fruitful life.

Mr. Feeney was a native of Kingston, a son of the late Brian and Bridget Knox Feeney. His wife, Rose Woods, who also came from a boating family, died March 30, 1955.

Surviving are three daughters, the Misses Margaret, Marion and Rose Marie Feeney; two sons, Bernard A. and Thomas J. Feeney; twelve grandchildren; five great-grandchildren and a sister Mrs. Elizabeth Coughlin.

The eldest son of the Feeney family, Philip, was associated with his father and brothers in the boat-building industry until his death some years ago. Mr. Feeney was a trustee of St. Mary's Church, a charter member of St. Mary's Holy Name Society, Kingston Council 275, Knights of Columbus and the Fourth Degree Assembly of Kingston Council, K of C.

The Spanish-American War of 1898 was the shortest and most decisive of all conflicts of the United States. There were only 114 days of actual fighting, but the war had a great influence on world affairs. Its end marked the loss of the last of Spain's colonies in the Americas and Asia, and the entrance of the U.S. into the ranks of colonial powers.

Budget Already Moving To Be Major '60 Topic

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Not even a national prize for fancy phrasing could make the word budget sound exciting. But it will be one of 1960's major sore spots and talking points.

Last month the Senate Republican Policy Committee predicted budget balancing would be the big issue in Congress next year and then later in the presidential campaign.

And because government economy, or lack of it, will hold such a high place in the national consciousness in 1960 you, who pay for the budget with your taxes, have practically no hope for a tax cut next year.

Rallying Post for GOP

For Republicans, budget-balancing is both a rallying post and a tender point.

In the 1952 campaign President Eisenhower was pretty optimistic about reducing government spending. He hasn't always succeeded. In the fiscal year the government went 12½ billion dollars in the red, a peacetime record.

For that fiscal year—which started July 1, 1958 and ended June 30, 1959—Eisenhower proposed spending 74 billion dollars. He was off on his estimate because the 1958 recession sent government income down and expenses up.

This year—for the 1960 fiscal year beginning July 1, 1959—the President asked 77 billion but spending may hit over 79 billion. That does not necessarily mean a deficit, because government income has picked up.

No wonder that Eisenhower—remembering the deficits, his early hopes of cutting down spending, the need for economy in dealing with inflation—went after the Democrats like a man with a mallet.

Same Treatment Due

He did more than just appeal to Congress for economy. He went on TV to get public support and pressure on Congress. He kept banging away on the same theme all through the 1959 congressional session.

One effect of all this was to make the Democratic-run Congress so self-conscious about spending that it pretty much ate out of his hand. He can be expected to do no less next year, his last full White House year.

He has been subjected to criticism, of course, for not pumping more money into defense and other areas to keep abreast of the Soviets or to surpass them.

This year, since relations with the Soviet Union seem a little warmer, and Premier Nikita Khrushchev is calling for world disarmament, Eisenhower has some added ammunition to use against those who believe he is not making the maximum effort.

It may be rather comforting to all sides in a dispute over government spending that they can't see 10 years into the future. It may take that long to prove who is right and who is short-sighted now.

Yet possibly, since economy and government spending will be a presidential campaign issue, the Democrats may trot along beside Eisenhower in keeping down the budget.

Won't Prevent Yapping

But that won't prevent about six months of yipping and yapping on both sides during the congressional session.

Monday Eisenhower tentatively okayed part of the budget he will offer Congress in January—41 billion dollars for the military forces—which was just about what he asked this year.

That might indicate he has in mind the same kind of total budget for next year that he requested this year: 77 billion.

Even if the politicians of both parties were stricken speechless in 1960 there would still be an awful budget rumormongering if only from the Army, Navy and Air Force, each of which always wants more money than Eisenhower says they need.

First Witness Is Due In Murder Case Today

ELMIRA, N. Y. (AP)—The first witness in the first-degree murder trial of Thomas E. Crown, 18, was scheduled to be called today.

Crown broke down in court Monday during the selection of a jury and complained of chest pains. After an examination, a hospital physician said there was no evidence of a disorder but that Crown was "just nervous."

Selection of the jury was completed Monday.

Crown is charged with the fatal beating of Jacob F. Rohde, 60, last June 2. Rohde was returning home from work at a factory when the attack occurred, police said.

A watch and a small amount of money was taken from Rohde after the beating, police said.

Man Is Fatally Stabbed in Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—A 31-year-old city sanitation worker was stabbed to death Monday night during a quarrel with his ex-wife's boy friend.

John Castrovinci, of Astoria, Queens, died in an ambulance on the way to a hospital. The boy friend was charged with homicide. Police said Castrovinci called on Mrs. Ada Castrovinci, 38, at her apartment and angrily demanded that she pay her share of the cost of their divorce last April.

They said John Genicevitch, 37, a bakery truck driver, who was visiting Mrs. Castrovinci, got into a fight with Castrovinci. Police said Genicevitch plunged an eight-inch hunting knife into Castrovinci's back. Mrs. Castrovinci called police.

Miller is on leave from the Texaco Research Center, Beacon, N. Y., while working for a doctorate degree in nuclear engineering at the University of Michigan.

Higher Stock Earning

WILMINGTON, Del.—Hercules Powder Company expects to earn about $2.75 a share of common stock this year, as compared to $2.04 a share in 1958, according to Albert E. Forster, president and chairman of the board. Total dividend for the year is expected to be higher than the $1.10 per share paid in 1958. Although this matter has not been considered by the company's board of directors, Forster told the Financial Analysts Society of Pittsburgh today.

HHFA Approves Middletown Plan On Blighted Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Housing and Home Finance Agency says it has approved as workable a program submitted by Middletown, N. Y., to eliminate the city's blighted areas.

Formal HHFA approval of a workable program is a prerequisite for federal assistance in the form of loans and grants for slum clearance and rehabilitation, public housing, and FHA mortgage insurance for private development of project areas and rehousing displaced families.

The city has told HHFA that it has a comprehensive set of codes and ordinances regulating the design, construction, and occupancy of buildings.

Middletown also said a comprehensive community plan has been adopted, major revisions to the zoning ordinance are under consideration, and an analysis has been made of a proposed urban renewal area, with analysis of the remainder of the city scheduled for completion by 1962.

Mary Martin Scores Another Hit in Broadway Play About Famous Trapp Family of Singers

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Broadway's big new entry, "The Sound of Music," rings with entertainment daring and melodic splendor.

Involved in the show, which premiered Monday night at the Lunt-Fontaine Theatre, is a stellar array of creative talent that includes Mary Martin as star; Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II as the composing team; and Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse as the writers.

What they have created for the public, which bought 2 1/2 million dollars worth of tickets in advance is a musical play that blithely disregards the format clichés of most commercial show ventures.

There is neither orchestral overture nor significant dance routine; there is a plot line that weaves convent cloisters with Hitlerian Anschluss; there is a religious procession sung in Latin; among the performers is Theodore Bikel, well known folk-singer, who however, is called on primarily to act, not sing.

It all adds up, nevertheless, to a stimulating experience that derives its greatest measure of entertainment values from a score that ranks well up in the Rodgers-Hammerstein record.

Among the numbers that will take their place in the popular idiom are "My Favorite Things," "Climb Every Mountain," "Do Re Mi," and the title song.

Miss Martin, radiant and joyous, is in top vocal form as the girl who leaves an Austrian abbey to become the governess of a motherless brood of seven youngsters, and stays in their Tyrol castle to become the wife of the widowed Clain Sire.

The story of "The Sound of Music" is based upon the true-life adventures of the Trapp family of singers. Most of the play concerns the gentle love story of the stern naval captain and the would-be nun who wore curlers beneath her wimple.

It is only when the evening is well toward the three-quarter mark that "The Sound of Music" reaches dramatic tension. At this point the Nazi storm troopers swarm across Austria, and the patriotic Trapps flee their homeland.

The score, like the story, centers upon Miss Martin, but there are other voices on stage who contribute to the melodic spectacle.

Patricia Neway, best known as an operatic singer on television, soars with a contralto of thrilling fervency, and there are two choral groups of excellent accomplishment. They are the Trapp children, in real life youngsters ranging from 16 to 8 years of age; and the distaff ensemble of convent sisters.

Among individual performers veteran Kurt Kasner, adolescent Lauri Peters and juvenile Evanna Lien are standouts.

Also on stage is Marion Marlowe, long a member of Arthur Godfrey's video gang, and here a stilted, cautious portrayal.

The production is directed in an inspirational, almost reverential, mood by Vincent J. Donehue. Oliver Smith provides some lavish settings. The costumes are by Lucinda Ballard, for the company at large, and by Mainbocher, for Miss Martin.

Gateway Association Programs Announced

On Sunday, Nov. 15, members of Gateway Association, a social group for physically handicapped people, selected a nominating committee. They are: Dale Natoli, chairman, Ida May DePew, Helen Kiernan, Helen Clare and Kathy Coughlin.

The meeting was held at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church.

Plans have been completed for a Christmas party to be held at the Wimpys in Kingston on December 20 from 1:30 p. m. to 5 p. m. Entertainment will be provided through the courtesy of Mrs. Wimpys. Appearing will be a barber shop singing quartet.

There will also be a gift exchange.

The Wimpys' Monday Night Club has also offered to decorate several booths in the spring for the annual auto show to demonstrate to the public the type of work that a handicapped person can do. All articles on display will be those made by Gateway members.

The Gateway Association's main objective is to work closely with Gateway Industries in establishing a workshop in the area for handicapped people.

the 1950's, written by a man extremely sensitive to the change which had come over the American social and intellectual climate during the McCarthy epoch. The movement to the right, the fear of being a leftist or having any liberal pretensions is the main force which prompted Mr. Miller to write this play. Mr. Miller writes: "I wished for a way to write a play that would be sharp, that would lift out of the morass of subjectivism the squirming, single, defined process which would show that the sin of public terror is that it divests man of conscience, of himself."

The unusual thing about the play is that its theme and references are modern, however, its setting is in Colonial Salem, the year 1692. That was the year of the great witch hunt when public terror ran rampant. Many of the characteristics of the Salem witch hunt were present in the McCarthy red hunt of the early 1950's.

The entire socio-intellectual setting of the Salem witch hunt proved ideal for what Mr. Miller had to say about the present time.

Inasmuch as there will be only reserved seating, anyone wishing to secure tickets should write to "The Crucible," P. O. Box 353, Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson.

If writing, all must state the number of seats requested and the date preferred in addition to name, address and telephone number. Tickets will be held at the box office for patrons.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette," etc.

KNEE-LENGTH SKIRTS

Dear Mrs. Post: There is one item of behavior about which I wish you would comment in your column for the benefit of many young women who simply don't think about the skimpiness of the skirts they may have on and the need for paying attention to the way they sit in chairs and sofas, buses and subway trains, to the embarrassment of others in the bus, train, room, or wherever it may be.

Answer: Further than quoting this letter, I should like to add a reminder that knee-length skirts that are also narrow look deceptively proper from the wearer's angle of sight. Therefore, everyone who wears such clothes should practice standing and sitting down in front of a mirror.

Family Dinner After Wedding Reception

Dear Mrs. Post: We would like to have my daughter's wedding at half past four in the afternoon, followed by the reception with just wedding cake and punch and then the dinner for the families at a restaurant. But if we have this dinner last of all, I don't know how we could keep the reception guests from staying on and on. What do you suggest?

Answer: If following the reception with a family dinner is what you would like, this is one way it could be done: To end the reception it is merely necessary that the bride and bridegroom dress for traveling and leave. Then instead of going immediately on their journey, they go to the restaurant and wait to be joined by the rest of you for dinner. Even if the other guests know the plan, there is no rudeness to them if the bride and bridegroom have dinner with their families before their departure.

Who Fees Clergyman?

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been asked to be the godfather for a friend's child. Never having acted in this capacity before, I would like to know who is responsible for the customary donation given to the clergyman—the baby's father or the godfather?

Answer: The baby's father.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-13, entitled "Let's Give a Shower," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The "continental look" in men's clothes appears to be a permanent thing, according to many delegates at the 100th semi-annual convention of the International Assn. of Clothing Designers. ## Kricker's Bearsville Firm Building Safety Equipment

Ralph Kricker, president of Syntrope, Inc. of Bearsville, has announced the completion and delivery of the first of a group of scanner systems.

These devices rotate a radar scanning antenna and, simultaneously, through a velocity integrator give information as to the exact position of the radar beam.

These units will become part of the Air Safety Control program now being pushed to eliminate the dangers of airline congestion at large airports.

Under development for the past 16 months the early prototype will have proved their value in field tests for over a year. The new versions which are expected to be used to equip some 100 major airports have been under development on an around the clock basis for the last three months.

Pauker Recital Draws Acclaim

In the beautiful setting of the Hall of the new Temple Emanuel in Kingston, a jewel of a recital was presented Saturday evening, Nov. 14, by June Pauker, young lyric soprano, well-known to music devotees of the area. Mrs. Pauker was accompanied on the piano by her mentor, H. A. Schimmerling, distinguished composer-conductor-teacher of Woodstock.

Lovely in voice and in person, Mrs. Pauker sang brilliantly a varied and unusual group of selections in eight languages. The recital, which was sponsored by the Temple Emanuel Sisterhood, ranged from Mozart to Gershwin; from the aria "Lasciatemi Morire" from one of the oldest operas, Monteverdi's "Arianna," to "Rozhinkes Mit Mandlen" from the Jewish folk opera "Shulamit" by Goldfaden; through Strauss, Stravinsky and Debussy to American, Yiddish and Serbian folk songs.

Varied Program

Highlighting the program were two compositions by Mr. Schimmerling himself—a spirited Spanish folk poem, "Senor Alcalde Mayor" and a lilting melodic piece called "There Is No One New"—which were enthusiastically acclaimed by the good-sized audience. Other selections received with particular delight were "Voi Lo Sapete" from Mastagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana"; Gershwin's "My Man's Gone Now" from "Porgy and Bess"; and "Musetta's Waltz" from Puccini's "La Boheme" which was given as one of two encores in response to repeated curtain calls at the end of the concert.

The singer, in private life the wife of Kingston business man Bernard Pauker, and mother of two, performs regularly in the choir of the Fair Street Reformed Church and the Temple Emanuel. She has participated, with solo performances, in several of the musical pageants Mr. Schimmerling has presented at the Woodstock and Onteora Schools.

The magnificent new Temple Emanuel building, on Albany Avenue in Kingston, constructed in modern style, was begun in March 1958 and dedicated in May of this year.—ABE KRAMER.

Salomon, "father of modern photojournalism and candid camera technique" is on display through Dec. 18 at the Leica Gallery, 468 Fourth Avenue.

An experienced artist as is Arnold Blanch is confident in making adjustments in his painting from time to time. Just now he has turned again to abstract art, showing a deceptive ease in the process at the Krasner Gallery in New York, says Carlyle Burrows, art critic of the Herald Tribune. These are partly objective in indicating with all over symbols of trees, churches and other architecture, which places he has enjoyed seeing and painting. They are presented freely in the semi-abstract style with a delicate vividness which is expressive and decorative. One of the most sensitive of the oils is his "Churches and Walls" whose domes and facades punctuate a tonal field of delicate pinks and grays in a rippling effect not unlike tapestry, says Burrows.

Neighbors Help Crippled Town Ripped by Blast

WORTHINGTON, Minn. (AP)—No one panicked. When it was all over, the 9,500 people of this southwestern Minnesota town acknowledged they had friends.

Within minutes after an explosion ripped out all the city's power and much of its heat, in sub-zero weather, offers of help began to roll in.

Portable generators were rushed from neighboring towns and set up at nursing homes, the city's three water wells and some schools. Even a greenhouse got one.

The municipal hospital switched to its own power units and was not affected. Repair crews quickly provided power for the Southwestern Minnesota Crippled Children's Hospital-School.

Civil Defense Director Ray Schisler said "We needed all the help we got and we got it before we could ask."

The power was lost at 9:40 a.m. Monday when an explosion ripped wires between plant turbines and the distribution system.

Capt. Henry Fauskee of the National Guard turned in the alarm after a manhole a block from the power plant blew up in front of him.

Fauskee never made it home from the police station. Gov. Orville Freeman ordered out the local Guard unit after he had been advised of the situation. Six patrols of 50 guardsmen roamed the darkened streets to check possible pillaging and fires.

There were no serious casualties but two power plant workmen—John T. Anderson and Gerald Post—received flash burns about the face and arms and were taken to the hospital.

With repair crews working through the day and most of the night, complete power was returned early this morning.

Emergency quarters set up for chilled residents at the armory, an elementary school and two churches attracted only a few persons.

Many residents crowded into five outlying motels and a downtown hotel, served by steam heat.

Take a look at the North and South hands only and see how you would go about playing your four-spade contract.

Naturally you will win the opening heart lead with the ace and start after the trumps. You lead your king and then play a second trump to dummy's queen. Both opponents follow to this so trumps are going to break.

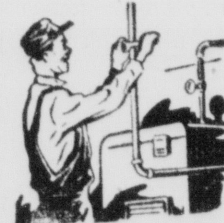

If you want to make five odd you play another trump and then go after the diamonds. The only trouble with this play is that maybe the diamonds won't be kind enough to break 3-3 and you will go down.

If you are smart and willing to settle for a reasonably sure four you have a much better play after the second trump lead. Just play a couple of high diamonds. If the jack drops you can now play that last trump and still make your five odd. If someone ruffs the second diamond you could not have made the hand anyway. If both opponents follow low you simply lead a low diamond and ruff it high.

This gives up the play for an overtrick but insures your contract against the very probable 4-2 break in the diamond suit.

5 Teeners Drown As Car Plunges Into High Water

LONGVIEW, Wash. (AP)—Five teen-agers drowned Monday night when a car missed a turn at an intersection and plunged into a slough. A companion clawed his way to safety.

Francis Hughes, 16, told officers he didn't know how he escaped from the overturned car which landed in about 20 feet of water after sailing off a 25-foot cliff. He climbed the bank and flagged down a passing truck.

Skindivers managed to get a line on the vehicle hours later and rescue crews pulled it to the surface. Two bodies were found inside. Three others were recovered in dragging operations.

Hughes identified his companions as Doug Randolph, 17, driver of the car; Jerry Walston, 15; Floyd Walston, 13; Bill Webster, 16; and Dick Webster, 13. All were from Longview.

Kingston Booters Are Beaten In Challenge Cup Competition

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The football caravan heads eastward to New Haven this weekend for The Game between the Yales and the Harvards in the cavernous Yale Bowl where better than 50,000 persons, including a host of Kingstonians will watch the 76th renewal of the most hallowed series in football.

Monk Armstrong, who is uncle to Hobie Armstrong, admits he finds himself in a bit of a dilemma.

"I'd like to go over to New Haven with all those nice Yale rooters from Kingston, but I don't want to embarrass anybody," quipped Monk. "I'd hate to be sitting among a gang of Yale folks rooting like mad for Hobie and the Harvard freshmen."

We suggested that we might see Monk at the freshman game Friday afternoon at 2 p. m. "Well, if you don't see me, you'll hear me," Armstrong replied. "Cause I expect to do a lot of hollerin' that day."

On the surface, it looks like a bad weekend for the Cantabs. The Yale frosh are undefeated and will rate favorites over Hobie and the Harvards, while the Bulldogs, fresh off a whopping triumph over Princeton, figure to handle their Cambridge rivals in the varsity fracas on Saturday.

Since we expect to see both games, we're going to play it strictly down the middle. It would be unthinkable to root against Hobie on Friday, but the next day is something else again. We're rooting for Yale varsity over Harvard. How's that for straddling the issue?

Flotsam and Jetsam:

John Ross of Poughkeepsie, who did not play football for Coach Sam Kalloch, is one of the first string tackles at Yale. Ross played at Andover before going to Yale. . . . Bruce Wiederspiel's Albright College teammates achieved a spectacular upset, checking Juniata's 27-game winning streak Saturday. The loss terminated the state's longest unbeaten string, extending back to the 1956 football season. Wiederspiel, former all-UCAL in three major sports while at Ontario Central, has seen limited action this season, but will be Albright's No. 1 fullback for the 1960 campaign. . . . The annual edition of the ski manual lists Dorothy Nebel of Belleayre Ski Center as a certified USEASA ski instructor (that's the pro class); amateur instructors include William Hinsdale of Kingston, George Kelley of Woodstock and Ralph Smith of Saugerties. Roxbury Ski Center plans to give free half-day lessons to new members of the USEASA. If those caps have been bugging you, they add up to United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association. Five years ago Charlie Conerly told the football Giants he was through. They booed him at the Polo Grounds and they belted him on the turf. "No sense," said Charley, "taking all that abuse." Postlude: Charlie Conerly Day coming up soon will be one of the biggest days in pro football in New York.

A Continental Booster:

Big Jim Konstanty, the fabulous fireman of the pennant winning (1950) Phillies, now a sporting goods operator in Oneonta has strong faith in the proposed Continental baseball league. He told an Ontario scribe:

"You know a lot of people are knocking the idea of a third league. Personally, I don't believe a man of Branch Rickey's know-how would take on a job of president of that league, if he didn't fully think it would be a success. I think so, too. As for all that talk about there not being enough players of major league calibre to fill the ranks, you can't tell me that a nation of 170 million people can't produce 250 good ball players."

Mrs. Joan Madden Is Winner In Glenerie Bridge Tourney

Mrs. Joan Madden of Ellenville has won the individual trophy in the Fall series of the Glenerie Bridge Club's eight-game tournament with a .600 average for the series.

Harry Thayer of Ellenville and Laszlo Sima of Woodstock posted an excellent 60 per cent to take top honors on the North-South side of the final tournament. This pair has played well throughout the season and rates as one of the fine combinations in the area.

Mrs. Madden and her partner, I. H. Wheatcroft of Kingston posted a 58 per cent game to take first place on the East-West side. They played conservative but sound duplicate to achieve the victory.

Runnersup on the North-South side were Mrs. Frances Leggett of Stone Ridge and C. Paul Jensen of Kingston with 59 per cent. Dr. William Dean and Steve Pauker of Kingston placed third with a 55 per cent game.

Dr. Paul Perlman and Robert W. Greene of Woodstock were runnersup on the East-West side with 55 per cent, followed by Milton Tompkins and Dr. John Comstock of Kingston with 54 per cent.

The Glenerie Bridge Club will hold a fractional point game at the Jewish Community Center tonight at 8 o'clock.

MILWAUKEE — (NEA) — America's largest sports organization is the American Bowling Congress. It has 3,250,000 male members, an increase of 310 per cent since World War 2.

Falling behind at the 20-minute mark, the Kingston Sport Club lost a 4-2 decision to the Italian American Citizens of Tuckahoe, in a National Amateur Challenge Cup Competition Soccer game Sunday at Hasbrouck Park.

The visitors scored after 20 minutes of play. Moments later, Alex Dirks of Kingston was hurt and he had to leave the game. He returned in the second half. George Vizvary, another Kingston player, reentered an ankle and he had to sit out the rest of the contest.

The Italians were ahead, 2-0, at halftime. At the 65 minute mark, Al DiBella scored a goal for the locals, but Tuckahoe went two up with another goal at the 66 minute mark. A score by Dirks and then another goal by the visitors completed the scoring for the afternoon.

The locals will play at Hasbrouck Park on Sunday for a meeting with the Troy Italian Community Center.

On Saturday, Nov. 21, a Thanksgiving Day dance will take place at the Alpine.

McCovey Named 'Rookie of Year'

BOSTON (AP)—Willie McCovey, who forced San Francisco to find another job for previous winner Orlando Cepeda, today was unanimously named 1959 National League Rookie of the Year.

McCovey was the choice of each member of the 24-man selection committee for the Baseball Writers Assn. of America honor. An automobile salesman in the off season, McCovey joined the Giants on July 30 from the Phoenix farm club and proceeded to spark Frisco in a drive to the league lead. His slugging helped keep the club in contention the remainder of the season.

McCovey, 21, hit .354 in 52 games. He had 38 runs batted in, 13 home runs, nine doubles and five triples to show for a third of a season. His slugging average was a lustrous .690.

Cepeda, unanimous choice for 1958, was moved to the outfield to make room for McCovey when the 6-foot-4, 200-pounder arrived.

In his first four major league at bats, McCovey slammed out hits off Philadelphia's Robin Roberts to break up a free-scoring game. During his first week with the Giants, McCovey depicted several contests at the plate.

Cooper Favored In Title Defense Of English Crown

LONDON (AP)—Henry Cooper, British and Empire heavyweight boxing champion, defends his title tonight against Joe Erskine in a 15-round fight that could change the placings in the world's top 10. Cooper is ranked fifth behind champion Ingemar Johansson. Erskine is No. 7.

Cooper is a 5-4 choice chiefly because he packs a vicious left hook and Erskine has little with which to retaliate except speed, cleverness and a powder puff punch.

Cooper, 25, appeared washed up after losing four straight fights between September 1956 and September 1957. Then in a battle against Welsh milkman Dick Richardson he got off the canvas to score a fifth round knockout. With the victory returned his confidence.

Erskine has beaten Cooper twice as a third round victory for the Welshman would run any chance Cooper has of getting a world title shot against Johansson.

Syracuse Still No. 1 In AP Poll

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Syracuse continued its magic of managing to be more and more impressive with each game and marked its second straight week as the No. 1 college football team in the nation today — unbeaten, untied and unchallenged in The Associated Press poll.

The Orange, with two regular season games left before a New Year's Day date in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, were named first on 126 of the 253 ballots cast by sportswriters and sportscasters for almost a 2-1 margin over runner-up Mississippi.

They did it by whipping expected pushover Colgate by an unexpected 71-0 to retain the No. 1 berth they gained in a seven-week rise from 20th.

The rankings, determined by total points awarded on a basis of 10 for first, nine for second, etc., show Syracuse with 2,145 points to 1,859 for Mississippi, which drew 68 first place votes.

Ole Miss Advances

Ole Miss moved up from fifth in a swap with Texas after the Longhorns were handed their first defeat, 14-9, by Texas Christian.

Louisiana State, which tumbled to third a week ago after a 14-13 upset by Tennessee, remained No. 3 behind Mississippi, whose lone loss was to LSU (7-3). Ole Miss walloped Tennessee 33-7 last Saturday.

Southern California, matching Syracuse's 8-0 record as the only perfect-record club left among the majors, stayed fourth.

Georgia jumped to sixth from 12th after beating Auburn 14-13. Penn State, beaten only by Syracuse (20-18), moved from 10th to seventh, while Northwestern and Wisconsin each dropped two places, to eighth and ninth, after suffering their second defeat.

TCU, also a two-time loser, shot up to 10th from 18th for its job on Texas.

Upstate College Football Roundup

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Ben Schwartzwalder, coach of Syracuse's football powerhouse, claims he views Saturday's game at Boston University with alarm.

The coach of the nation's No. 1 team said BU "doesn't figure to be a breeze." Of Syracuse's 71-0 smashing of Colgate, Schwartzwalder said "everything went right for us."

HAMILTON, N. Y. (AP)—Coach Alva Kelley rested Colgate's battered football forces again today after Saturday's 71-0 loss to Syracuse.

Kelley gave his team two days off after the rout. Then, he said, he plans to rework Red Raider defenses for Brown.

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—Cornell, whose hopes of a tie for the Ivy League football title shattered, resumed practice today for its Thanksgiving Day game with the University of Pennsylvania.

Cornell needed victories over Dartmouth and Penn to tie for the league. The Big Red lost to Dartmouth 21-12 Saturday.

Chicago Starts Losing Streak In NHL Action

DETROIT (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks are back in the give-away business after a brief interlude of prosperity.

The Hawks returned to their wasteful ways Monday night and dissipated a two-goal lead in losing 3-2 to the Detroit Red Wings. Only 24 hours before, Chicago had ended a 14-game winless streak with its first victory since the National Hockey League's opening night—a 5-3 comeback triumph over Detroit.

The victory seemed to spur the Hawks on through 48 minutes of Monday night's game before they lapsed into their old habits. They enjoyed a 2-0 lead and had outshot the weary Wings by 10 shots. Then in a flash of 5½ minutes a Detroit counterattack notched three goals.

A couple of former Black Hawks, Jack McIntyre and John McKenzie, evened the score for Detroit by 10:32 of the final period. Gordie Howe, as productive as ever in his 14th NHL season, applied Detroit's clinching goal three minutes later.

Second-period markers by Murray Balour and Bill Hay had provided Chicago with its wasted advantage.

The game was the only one on the NHL docket and there are none tonight.

Big Ten Successful Against Outside Clubs

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten is still one of the toughest football leagues in the country, if not the toughest.

Although Western Conference members have been knocking off each other with monotonous regularity, clubs outside the family have not found them easy to handle.

Against non-league opposition, the Big Ten stands 14-5, discounting one tie. If Michigan State defeats Miami of Florida and Iowa defeats Notre Dame this weekend, the record will be 16-5.

Adopted Program

This mark would be the second finest in more than a decade. In 1956 the Big Ten bowled over outside competition 19 times in 24 games.

Three years ago the Big Ten adopted the program of financial aid on a basis of need. A cry went up that the better football players would go to schools outside the conference.

This may be true. But while the plan definitely has leveled off competition within the league, it has not injured Big Ten strength against independent and teams from other leagues.

In fact, the Big Ten is enjoying a greater success against outside foes than it did some 10 years ago. In the last four years the Big Ten has amassed a 64-23 record against non-league teams.

One fact is significant in Big Ten football these days and that is the have-nots are riding high. Northwestern, which is fighting for the championship this weekend, has been a doormat for years.

Indiana, another toughie, was alongside Northwestern. In fact, two years ago neither Indiana nor Northwestern won a single conference game.

Heathcliffe Winner Of Roosevelt Feature

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP)—Heathcliffe made every step a winning one at Roosevelt Raceway Monday in the junior freestyle for all-Class AA handicap trot.

The 6-year-old gelding covered the mile in 2:04 3-5 to beat favored Tyson Scott by a half-length. Fred Spencer drove Heathcliffe in flawless fashion for the Heather Stable, Smithtown. It was Heathcliffe's second victory in a row at the Westbury oval and his ninth in 25 starts this year.

He returned $12.20, $3.90 and $2.20. Silver Song, who'll compete in a series of invitational race in Milan, Italy, later this month, was third.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Professional basketball players tell you, almost without exception, that Elgin Baylor in his second season has become the best all-round player in the game.

In the light of the performance of Wilt Chamberlain, Bill Russell, Bob Cousy, Bob Pettit and perhaps another one or two, that may sound crazy, but then, as Coach Red Auerbach of the champion Boston Celtics says, "Any basketball player more than six feet two inches in height is nuts."

That means most of the money players have idiosyncrasies, for a bloke shorter than six-two is practically a pycmy in the National Basketball Association.

A number of them are hypochondriacs. They run from pills to pranks like six-nine Clyde Lovellette, the drug store cowboy center of the St. Louis Hawks, shooting up Referee Jim Duffy with blank cartridges during the pre-season exhibition tour in retribution for what he considered bad calls.

They understandably get dizzy at such heights, but it's a wonderful sensation when you get around the $60,000 a year the Philadelphia Warriors are paying seven-two Wilt the Stilt Chamberlain as a freshman.

Getting back to Baylor, the six-five, 220-pound lad who last season came out of Seattle University to save the Minneapolis franchise, broke the National Basketball Association single game scoring record with 64 points against the Celtics the other night. The old mark, established by the renowned Joe Fulks of Philadelphia 11 years ago, was 63.

Baylor's total is made all the more remarkable by two things. He's a sophomore among the money men and he accomplished the feat against the champions.

"There isn't any question but that Baylor is replacing Dolph Schayes, the finest all-round player of the game," said Haskell Cohen, keeper of the NBA archives.

This, to the layman reporter, was a rather astonishing statement in view of the headline grabbing of Chamberlain, Russell, Cousy, Pettit and another one or two.

"They are outstanding, of course," explained Cohen, "the glamour boys of the most rapidly mushrooming pro game, but aficionados long have recognized Schayes, in his 11th year with Syracuse, as the most completely equipped player."

What Cohen means is that Baylor and Schayes do everything well, offensively and defensively. They have a delicate shooting touch, stand out on rebounds, are superlative foot shooters, move the ball, getting an assist when necessary.

"Baylor has got a lot of deserved attention for a second-year man," commented Fuzzy Levane, head man of the New York Knickerbockers, "but Schayes has been grossly underpublicized like our shooter, Kenny Sears, and backcourt man, Richie Guerin."

"There are other players in the league who haven't been given half the publicity to which they are entitled—Jack Twyman of Cincinnati, Syracuse's Larry Costello and Detroit's Gene Shue, to name three."

As in all games, the steady, dependable all-round player is overshadowed by specialists in the show window.

IBM Rewards 238 Athletes at Trophy Dinner

Two hundred and thirty eight Kingston IBM employees and members of their families received Watson Trophies, symbolic of prowess in company-sponsored activities at the annual trophy dinner Saturday night in the plant cafeteria.

Featured speaker at the dinner was Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, former New York Yankee pitcher, who related humorous anecdotes of his athletic career.

Speakers at the event also included McLain B. Smith, IBM vice president and Group Executive, and Richard J. Whalen, plant general manager, who awarded the trophies to the winners.

Introduction of guests and closing remarks were delivered by Ronald P. Gibbons, president of the IBM Club, the employees' organization. The Rev. Edward J. Farrelly, of St. Mary's Church, Kingston, gave the invocation.

Schloredt Big Reason for Showing of Grid Huskies

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer

Before the season began Washington's Huskies were supposed to be in need of offensive punch. But those were the days when quarterback Bob Schloredt was still on the second team. Things have changed since—very drastically.

Schloredt's biggest handicap, it was thought at the time, was his use of only one eye. He lost his left eye in a childhood accident.

Weather: Cloudy.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 43 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 47 degrees.

Weather Forecast

THREATENING

Southeastern New York — Cold wave warning. Windy and turning colder this afternoon with rain ending or changing to snow flurries. Windy and much colder to night with a few snow flurries in the mountains and north portions. Wednesday partly cloudy to fair and very cold. Temperatures falling below freezing before dark today, to about 10-15 by Wednesday morning. High Wednesday 18-25. Winds becoming westerly 15-25, with stronger gusts today and to night, diminishing Wednesday.

West State Is Braced for Snow

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Western New Yorkers braced themselves for their first "real" snowstorm of the season, on the advice of the U. S. Weather Bureau here.

The weathermen forecast skidding temperatures, heavy winds and snow flurries and squalls.

The early morning temperature in Buffalo of 42 degrees dropped 18 points by mid-morning and the bureau said it was expected the mercury would continue its downward path to the low 20s by afternoon. Readings of 10 to 15 degrees were forecast by nightfall.

Winds with gusts up to 40 miles an hour were expected to sweep the cold snap throughout the area, carrying with them accumulations of from 2 to 5 inches of snow in the southwestern section of the state and traces in the northwest sector.

The Weather Bureau said previous forecasts for snowfalls had proved incorrect, but said "today's looks like the real thing."

Laughs Off Plot

LONDON (AP)—A British newspaper today said Irish nationalists are plotting to kidnap Prince Charles but Scotland Yard laughed the story off.

The Daily Herald claimed that fear of a swoop by Irish gunmen is the real reason for increased guards around Cheam School in Berkshire, where the 11-year-old heir to the British throne gets his education.

State Warned Of Cold Wave

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Stiff northerly winds fanned arctic air across the nation's mid-section today, dropping temperatures to record low marks for the date from the Great Lakes region to northern Texas.

It was nearly freezing as far south as San Antonio, Tex., and Amarillo, Tex., shivered in 14 above temperatures. The mercury edged toward the zero mark at Chicago and Milwaukee and it was below zero at Minneapolis. The cold Canadian air headed into the East and dipped southward toward the Gulf.

The Weather Bureau in Chicago in a special bulletin this morning posted cold wave warnings for New York, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, with freezing conditions likely in many of the Gulf and southeastern states tonight.

Near or zero weather was the rule in most of the north central region while readings of 5 to 10 below were the rule in the Dakotas and northwestern Nebraska. The icy weather was expected to continue today with some moderation Wednesday.

Montana reported a warming trend, but it still was the coldest part of the country. Temperatures were as low as 10 to 20 degrees below zero in many places. No heavy snow was reported in the cold belt but snow flurries were indicated in the Great Lakes region. Strong winds caused much drifting of snow on the ground in some northern areas.

Criminal Cases Heard in Court

Several criminal cases were disposed of in County Court Monday afternoon and Assistant District Attorney Joseph Torraca arraigned several other defendants under sealed indictments.

Willie Freeman, charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry to the Giralomo Abbadessa building at Marlboro on Oct. 7, appeared in court and Judge Louis G. Bruhn assigned Bernard Feeney, as defense counsel. A plea of innocent was entered.

Steve Dorsey, charged with criminally possessing a pistol, entered a plea of guilty to possession as a misdemeanor and was fined $100. John J. Schick appeared for Dorsey.

Harvey Lee Henderson, charged with criminally carrying a concealed pistol, had his case adjourned until the February term on motion of Charles Saccoman, counsel.

Donald Tice, charged with criminally carrying a loaded pistol and petit larceny arising out of the taking of a gun from an officer in Ellenville, changed a former innocent plea to one of guilty to petit larceny and was given a year in jail, execution of sentence being suspended and he was directed to report to Probation Officer Charles E. Schultz. Charles Saccoman who appeared for Tice moved for dismissal of the first count of the indictment and for exoneration of the bail.

Wolfgang Hudsel entered a plea of guilty to section 1421 of the Penal Law, a misdemeanor, and was given a year in jail, execution of which was suspended and he was placed on probation on condition he make restitution. Joseph Hill appeared for Hudsel.

Dorothy Koss, Port Ewen, was arraigned on a charge of unlawfully receiving public assistance from January 10, 1956, to December 10, 1957. She entered a plea of innocent and asked that counsel be assigned. The case was put over to Nov. 18 at 2 p. m. for assignment of counsel and she was released in her own recognizance.

Clifford Johnson, 23, Modena, entered a plea of guilty to assault, third degree, a misdemeanor, and was sentenced to a year in the county jail. Because of his good record the jail sentence was suspended. Joseph Hill appeared for Johnson.

Jeremiah W. Hayes was released when Attorney Joseph Hill moved for dismissal of an indictment and the prosecution consented. Hill said Hayes desired to enter the Air Force and together with another defendant named in the indictment, had agreed to make restitution. Bail was exonerated.

Body of Girl Found

KENTFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Stabbed in the chest and strangled with a rope, the body of flame-haired Lorna Lax, 12, was found beside a creek Monday in a secluded, heavily wooded grove she called her "fort."

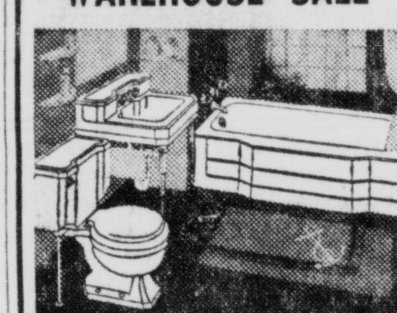

The girl, clad only in a blue pajama top, was in a sitting position, her legs stuffed into a sleeping bag and her torso held erect by the rope knotted around her neck and lashed to a tree branch above.

Deputy coroner Harold J. Keaton said he found indications Lorna could have been raped but he would not be certain until laboratory tests were made.
